

The seventh magazine of the TV series “Step by step”

The seventh magazine of the TV series “Step by Step” treats the topic of cross-border cooperation as an opportunity to improve the life of citizens.

The first story comes from Pirot:

How has this city, using the good experiences of the Bulgarian municipality Montana, organized the work of its Office for local economic development and is how offering better and more efficient support to Pirot’s entrepreneurs.

The second story is from Nis:

The Nis municipality Palilula has many socially endangered citizens who need help. As there is not enough money provide assistance to them, this municipality has sought the solution in the model of mobile teams that successfully operate in the Bulgarian town Kyustendil.

The third story is from Subotica:

How has the cooperation between the Subotica International Festival of Children’s Theatres and the Puppet Theatre of Szeged “Béla Kövér” enriched the cultural offer and good relations between citizens not only of these two towns, but also citizens of wider range of Serbia and Hungary?
