

Mirror of Power – The twelfth episode

The twelfth episode of the TV series “Mirror of power” strives to give answer to the question of how the public companies in Serbia are operating and whether there is a control of their work, by using the example of the Public Company “Press, radio and film” in Bor. This company was facing the liquidation due to its debt of 30 million dinars; the municipal budget inspection also found unlawful contracting and inappropriate spending money of this company. The interviewees – including the mayor of Bor Nebojsa Videnovic and company’s Director Vlada Novovic – were asked, among other things, whether there were any changes now, or rather if the current politics played a key role in public companies. This hypothesis has certainly been confirmed by Verica Barac from the Anti-Corruption Council.
